

HARRISBURG LETTER

Indictments for Conspiracy by Grand Jury Against

"CAPITOL - GRAFTERS"

Sanderson, Huston, Shumaker, Snyder, Mathues, Payne, Wetter—and The Gang's Not All Here.

The Dauphin County Grand Jury on Monday returned three true bills in the following capitol cases: John H. Sanderson, who furnished the capitol.

Joseph M. Huston, the architect. James M. Shumaker, superintendent of public grounds and buildings during the Pennypacker administration.

William P. Snyder, former Auditor General.

William L. Mathues, former State Treasurer.

George F. Payne, contractor. Charles G. Wetter, contractor.

Indictments for Conspiracy

In one bill Sanderson, Huston, Shumaker, Snyder and Mathues are indicted for conspiracy to defraud by a fraudulent furniture invoice amounting to $19,307.40. In the second they are indicted for the same offense, involving $2,649.31 for chandeliers. In the third bill they are indicted with Payne and Wetter, who are not involved in the first two cases, for the same offense, involving $257,034.96, by a fraudulent bill for decorating and painting.

The latter item relates to the painting and decorating of the House, Senate and dome. The amount was paid to Sanderson as part of warrants for $174,344.50 cashed between January 10 and February 14, 1905.

It is alleged that Payne & Co.'s capitol building contract required them to do the painting and that when Payne & Co. were paid in full, Huston certified that they had done the work on all the buildings. Subsequently Sanderson was given a contract to do this particular painting, and Payne, as his subcontractor, really did it. Sanderson then collected the bill.

The first bills to contain the name of Congressman H. Burd Cassel of Lancaster, who was at the head of the Pennsylvania Construction Company, were presented Tuesday.

It is the contention of the Commonwealth that this work was only done once and that the state paid for it twice. It is also charged that the measurements were false and that in the second payment the state paid for more work than was actually done.

Nelson-Enyeart

Wednesday of this week at the home of the bride's parents in Saxton, Harry R. Nelson of Elizabeth, N. J., and Miss Anna Estelle Enyeart were united in marriage by Rev. C. F. Althouse of the Reformed church, the bride's pastor, a sister of the bride, Miss Janie Enyeart being bridesmaid and H. Vinton Sanderson best man.

The bride is the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Enyeart and is a most estimable young woman. The groom is superintendent of the Warren Chemical Company at Elizabeth, N. J., and is one of Saxton's sons of whom she is proud. They left Saxton on the afternoon train for the Adirondacks where they will spend their honeymoon, after which they will take up their abode at Elizabeth, N. J.

A Musical Triumph

The organ recital given last Thursday evening by Mrs. Jenny Lind Greene of Baltimore was a musical and literary triumph. The large audience which greeted Mrs. Greene on this her second appearance in Bedford gave marked evidence of their appreciation of the refined arts and the artist as well. Fortunate indeed were the trustees to secure such a delightful entertainer and Mrs. Greene will be welcomed again and again in Bedford.

Mrs. M. S. Burket

Ida, wife of M. S. Burket of Everett, died at Henrietta, Blair county, on Tuesday, October 1, of heart failure, aged 33 years. She had not been in the best of health for about a year but left Everett on Sunday with a friend to visit in Blair county, and her death came as a great shock to her husband and friends. Funeral services were held at Martinsburg yesterday morning, where interment was made.

AMONG THE MERCHANTS

P-Nut Man Makes Business Observations in Ohio.

Charleston, W. Va., Oct. 1, 1907. Editor Gazette, Dear Sir:—Thanks for Gazette that I have just read. Send next one to Reed House, Lexington, Ky., if you please.

In all my travels I never saw such a rush in business; all kinds and every one who has a heart in his work is busy and the cry all over the country is: Not the trouble to sell goods but the trouble to get them. Orders for any one of the cereals, and their names are legion almost, must be placed at least thirty days ahead. There is also a scarcity of sugar and the belief with most jobbers is that he who, like the squirrel, lays up now a stock for the winter will be the lucky man as they predict a scarcity of almost everything. Then again labor is as scarce as hen teeth. Why a man without arms or legs could get a job today.

The writer, amidst all this rush of business, has everywhere been laughed at by some of his friends when he says it is time to hedge in business before a panic. Thousands of men in business do not take time to eat. The mad rush spirit is crushing out the sweeter elements of home life. I say we are in danger of a great commercial decline because we, as a human family, think only of making money; we rush headlong through life, not once stopping to think of the result—which will be nervousness, sleepless nights and sullen manners. The wear and tear on the body of such an active life in both city and country is sure to bring on all of the above and no one can then properly conduct his business, of whatsoever kind, in a proper manner. All this is just as applicable to our national life as to our private life and the truth has recently developed itself in the graft game at Harrisburg. Those men were frantic for money and excitement; they had it and will soon reap their just dues, I hope.

Since I wrote you last I have visited twenty-one towns in Ohio and done lots of business in all of them. All have plenty to do but the cry begins to come home and says we are all doing too much business for the amount of money in circulation. Ohio is a great state; it has more good towns of from four to ten thousand than any other state and one can get around so easily because of the great trolley systems that are there. These lines form a complete network all over the state and are a great help to the travelling public. The two-cent per mile law has been in effect since last January. Many more travel now than before but the railroads say that it costs much more to haul these extra passengers than the increased revenue amounts to, and an effort will be made at the convening of the next Legislature to reconsider the law. The crops in the state are good, especially the corn and grass. One sees many sheep in this section and I am told that they are very high in price. Cattle are scarce and high; six cents per pound on foot for good fat ones is about the ruling price.

Cadiz, O., a neat town where Will, alias Icks, Cessna (a Bedford boy) lives, has about twenty-three hundred souls in it; it is a nice town, with paved streets and four National banks, one of which, the First, has our Bedford boy as president and his son as its cashier. I was told that it was through the efforts of Mr. Cessna that she had her streets paved and why not Bedford? I tell you, one and all, that if you will pave one street your people will put up such a howl that others will have to be fixed accordingly. Here then! Let the property owners be taxed two-thirds and the city the other third. Let us make a loan to pay the contractors—time, ten years—and let one-tenth be paid each year. By doing this no one would feel the burden unless J— Wy B— would put another value on Bedford real estate. What say you? I know that could many of your readers walk or drive over a nice bricked street a few times they would vote "yea," paved streets for Bedford and then we would not be satisfied but would pave the alleys. I would like to see this done before the great business panic strikes our beloved town.

We have had several cold and frosty mornings the past week though today is a lovely one. I will be up in the mountains of "old Kentucky" for several days, up where they cut and float to the Ohio river yellow poplar logs sixty feet long, as straight as an arrow. Many of these are floated to Ironton, O., where, (Continued on Fourth Page.)

IN THE NAVY

Former Bedford Boy Enters Uncle Sam's Service.

League Island Navy Yard, September 23, 1907. Editor Bedford Gazette,

Dear Sir:—I take great pleasure in writing you a few lines to tell some of my friends of the different duties of a marine. I enlisted at Altoona on August 22, 1907, and was immediately sent to League Island; my term of enlistment is four years. I arrived here on August 24 and was received by the first sergeant, Thomas West; he escorted me to room 7 where I found a crowd of good, jolly boys about my own age and, best of all, they were new men, too. They call room 7 the "Ruky room" on account of all recruits being there.

We sleep on iron cots with springs and mattresses, also two sheets, a pillow, a very large heavy blanket, and mosquito netting over each cot to protect us from insects which undoubtedly carry germs of disease. I rose at the sound of reveille, which is at 6 a. m.; mess (breakfast) call is sounded at 6:30 a. m. and we had oatmeal, coffee, hick and bread. I received my uniform after mess and also went to the hospital to be vaccinated. After marking all my clothes I started out at 10:30 for drill; was put in the foot-squad and stayed there but for one drill, then Sergeant Smith said he wished me to drill with the gun squad. I drilled in that for four days and was then turned over for duty; that was on Friday and Saturday I was put on guard, walking post in daylight with a bayonet, and at night with 38-calibre Colt revolver. My trick was two hours on guard and four off for 24 hours. Last week I was on a detail to go to the Rifle Range for target practice, and while there I made a very good record at 200 yards, also 300 and 600.

At sundown we had "Coloiz," that's pulling down "Old Glory," and putting it up again at sunrise. Every morning we make our own beds and mop up, then the commanding officer and others inspect our quarters. If they find any dirt on your floor or bed clothes you receive from 10 to 30 days in the brig, or jail, on bread and water—full rations once every three days. We are allowed to smoke at any time except at drill and mess. We have the following things here in the Barracks: A fine store, pool and billiard tables—pool is only one cent per cue—a tailor, barber, shower bath and six tubs, a self-playing piano and a fine ball-ground. Friday, from 2 until 4, we dance in the mess-hall, that is from September 24 until April. In our way of saying, "cat's in fine," we have a soup we call "slum," and it is made of meat, dough, potatoes and tomatoes. Our mail is delivered at 9 a. m. and 6:15 p. m. It certainly makes me feel good to receive a paper from home, and especially The Gazette.

We stay here until December 16, then we are all detailed on the great Pacific fleet which goes around the world, taking two years to make her trip. Bob Evans, the old veteran of the Spanish-American War, better known as "Fighting Bob," will have full charge of the expedition. There will be 17 vessels in the fleet, here are a few: the Kansas, finest man-of-war Uncle Sam owns; her sister ship, the New Hampshire, being built now; also the Georgia, Kentucky, new Maine, Kearsage, Indiana, all but the New Hampshire and Kentucky are here now ready to go. Each ship carries a guard of 60 to 70 men, so you can see why they have so many recruiting officers out hunting marines, and all I have to say is any young man who wishes to see the world can do so by enlisting now for all the men who enlist will be sent to League Island Marine Barracks where we are and from where the fleet starts. You can see that we are treated swell, you could not pay me to leave.

We have a clothing allowance of $248 for the four years of our enlistment; we use, at the outside, $130, leaving us $118 clear money which they give you when your time is out. We draw $12.80 per month and the majority of the boys lay $5 a month away in either government bonds or some bank during the four years; you can save on that $240 and when your time is up they pay you four cents per mile home (to where you enlisted) and so you can save money. Of course in the Philippines you draw double pay or in any foreign service; then, too, you save more at sea as you can only draw one-fourth of your salary, the rest is paid you (Continued on Fourth Page.)

MANY ITEMS OF INTEREST

Gleaned From Various Sources—Little Points Picked Up By Vigilant Reporters.

All roads lead to the Fair.

Dr. J. N. Helman, the eye-specialist is at the Bedford House today.

Those who own dogs will do well to procure tags as the new law has gone into effect.

A small child of Mr. and Mrs. Espy Rose, of Cumberland Valley, died Wednesday about 10 a. m.

Thomas P. Beckley and Son, of Alum Bank, received a lot of fine horses this week which they will offer for sale.

The public schools were closed on Wednesday and Thursday afternoons so as to enable the pupils to take in the County Fair.

A five-legged calf, owned by a Mr. Lingenfelter of East Freedom, for which he recently paid $50, is being exhibited at the Fair.

The excursion for Jamestown will leave Bedford at 9:20 a. m. Tuesday, October 15. Fare for round trip $10.70. Good for 30 days.

As mentioned in our last issue we went to press a day early this week because of the Fair, a full account of which will be given next week.

Miss Edith Harclerode, youngest daughter of Coal Dealer B. F. Harclerode, is ill with fever at the home of her parents on West John street.

Maurice F. Cessna, a Bedford boy who is in the service of Uncle Sam, is now a member of Company C, Hospital Corps, and stationed at Washington, D. C.

The regular meeting of Major William Watson Post 323, G. A. R. of Bedford, will be held on Tuesday, October 8, at 1:30 p. m. A full turnout is desired.

J. J. Lowery has been appointed health inspector for Londonderry and Harrison townships and is now looking after the sanitary conditions of the schools in that district.

An error—We were in error last week in stating that October 5 is the last day to register; it should have read "last day to pay taxes if you wish to vote." If your tax is not paid you know your duty.

W. F. Payne of Hyndman, B. & O. engineer, met with a very painful accident while bringing a helping engine down the mountain last Tuesday night. In passing a westbound train a poker, which protruded from the cab, struck him on the head, inflicting an ugly wound. Dr. Reese attended him.

Last Sunday morning after the services in the Zion Reformed church at Chambersburg, a congregational meeting was held and Rev. Irwin W. Hendricks, D. D., of Akron, O., was chosen as pastor. Rev. Hendricks was a former minister at this place and has many friends here, all of whom will welcome his return to this state.

Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Kikoin, of R. F. D. 4, Bedford, have issued invitations to the wedding of their daughter, Miss Anna A., and W. Roosevelt Wertz of Allegheny, which will be solemnized in St. Thomas' Catholic church, Bedford, Tuesday morning, October 15. Mr. Wertz is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Wertz, of Cumberland Valley.

D. Lloyd Claycomb, Esq., one of the youngest members of the Blair county bar, has received a certificate recommending him for admission to practice before the State Supreme Court, for which he took an examination some time ago. He is the first member of the bar to pass the examination now required by a recent law, and expects to be admitted to practice in the near future.—Altoona Tribune. Mr. Claycomb is a Bedford county boy.

The National McKinley Memorial

UNVEILED AT CANTON, SEPT. 30, 1907

THE traveler entering the Ohio city of Canton from whatever direction can see from afar the national McKinley memorial, a massive bulk of white granite, dominating the city much as a feudal baron's castle stood guard over a fortified town of old Europe in the days of chivalry. From the crest of Monument hill the mausoleum thrusts upward into the blue its hundred feet of white granite, shimmering and gleaming, rivaling in purity the stone of Carrara or the white clouds above it. It overlooks the city, and the city is very proud of the monument. Most Americans knew McKinley as a public man—a president. Canton knew McKinley also as a Cantonian. His old neighbors can tell of McKinley's first political victory, of his election as prosecuting attorney of Stark county. In congress, as governor, he had their well wishes, but not until the days of 1896, still memorable in the county seat of "old Molly Stark," did they give him up entirely to the nation. That summer the of vision he must perforce turn his attention to the marvelous beauty of the approaches and surrounding parks. The crest of Monument hill is seventy-five feet above the park land round about, and the slope is almost uniform in all directions, as though the hill had been cast in a mold for the purpose.

From the plaza at the head of the Longwater, the hill of the sword, a terraced stairway almost sixty feet high and as wide as it is long, leads upward to a stone platform 178 feet in diameter, the base of the tomb. Another hundred feet the dome towers, and to the apex of the interior it is more than seventy-five feet. Even at a short distance the pink Milford granite of which it is built appears almost pure white, the more clear doubtless for the touch of dust. The stairways of the same stone have prepared the eye for the simple, domelike expanse of white, which belies with an appearance of greater size its actual diameter of seventy-eight feet on the exterior and fifty-eight within.

sarcophagi are most prominent. The place is a tomb severely classical in conception and execution. It does not, like the Garfield monument, more Romanesque in design, unfold itself to the passing glance. The first impression is not the most pleasurable impression. The McKinley memorial does not yield up all its grandeur without study and contemplation. Every piece of ornamentation is pregnant with significance. The columns are Doric. An American eagle is the most noticeable bas-relief. The dome bears a sentence from McKinley's Buffalo address:

Let us ever remember that our interest is in concord, not conflict; that our real eminence rests in the victories of peace, not those of war.

The tomb itself is the impressive centerpiece of a landscape plan of a magnificence and appropriateness of size would bear President Roosevelt pronounce the oration at the unveiling exercises on the afternoon of the last day in September, would hear Justice Day's historical address and would listen to the nation's patriotic songs as the melody was buried to its echo in the surrounding woods by a male chorus of more than a hundred voices. The cabinet, the supreme bench, the diplomatic corps and all members of both houses of congress received invitations. Two thousand of Uncle Sam's regulars and more than an equal number of state troops received orders to guard the flag walled route of the procession. Canton, of many memorable McKinley days, put forth every effort to care for the nation's visitors on its last great day. It sent McKinley forth, received him back with cheers in triumph and with weeping in death. And now Canton, which has watched its progress from the time the first stone was placed, gives up to the nation the McKinley tomb.

In three ways the McKinley national memorial is held to be unique—it was built by popular subscription in the fullest meaning of that term; it has been completed within the time set in the contract; it was built within the first estimate of its cost.

The citizens of the nation paid for the McKinley mausoleum. The people at large gave the $600,000 needed for the building and maintenance of this tomb. No contribution exceeded $5,000, and few were of that magnitude. In the committee which had charge of the arrangements on that day of sorrow when Canton received the great men of the nation as mourners at the dead president's bier, the McKinley Memorial association had its inception. A few days after the funeral an organization was formed under the laws of Ohio having as its name the McKinley National Memorial association. President Roosevelt was asked to name trustees. A statement to the public asked funds. It was determined at the outset that men of vast permit necessary landscape gardening and furnish a sufficient income to keep the proper attendants in charge. The plan to do away with the necessity of charging an admission fee has been successful. The trustees have seen the erection of the mausoleum within the

that the memorial would be completed were forthcoming from the contractors, who rose to the emergency with emergency measures. The date was not changed. Sept. 20 the bronze doors were ready in their place. Even later workmen were still busy on the marble floor. A race against time in which seconds counted had developed, and the contractors made seconds count. The contract had called for the completion of the memorial Sept. 1. Despite the fire, which alone had prevented the fulfillment of the contract, all was rushed to completion within the month of grace.

With the bodies of President McKinley and Mrs. McKinley in their sarcophagi, with the caskets of their children in niches in the wall prepared for that purpose, with the memorial to a dead president given over to the people he ruled, the trustees, after their many meetings, busy meetings, see the completion of their chief tasks. Experience in raising a fund of over a half million to which every civilized country on the globe contributed, and in husbanding that fund by paying all running expenses from its interest, has made them confident of augmenting the endowment fund to the desired total. In fact, their cares were in large part over when, Nov. 16, 1905, Justice Day presided at the laying of the cornerstone of the mausoleum. The last days have been filled with the myriad details of the dedication, the elaborate preparations for the task of playing the host to the nation. This task the city of Canton shared.

President Roosevelt appointed as trustees Justice William R. Day, Marcus A. Hanna, Myron T. Herrick and William A. Lynch of Ohio; Henry C. Payne, Wisconsin; W. Murray Crane, Massachusetts; David R. Francis, Missouri; Alexander H. Revell, Illinois; Franklin Murphy, New Jersey; Henry M. Duffield, Michigan; George B. Cortelyou, Cornelius N. Bliss, John G. Milburn and E. W. cost decided upon and have a fund for endowment which they hope to increase to $100,000.

An open competition for designs brought a flood of responses. Before the year 1903 was out over half a hundred plans had been submitted. A committee consisting of Robert S. Peabody of Boston and Walter Cook of New York, architects, and Daniel Chester French, sculptor, was appointed to co-operate with an executive committee city's streets were filled with marching men, who passed beneath a triumphal arch to the home now to be preserved as a memorial and asked McKinley to lead the nation. In the past decade Canton has buried McKinley, has buried his widow and has seen his mausoleum grow.

The mausoleum stands on the northwestern edge of the city of 50,000 inhabitants. On no one of the seven hills of Rome—not on the Capitoline itself or off to the southeast, where stretched the Forum and the Coliseum—was there a temple so imposing, so appropriately expressive of "the spirit of the place," as the memorial a modern nation has erected to its fallen chief in the twentieth century. The mausoleum, with its approaches, forms a sword with a cross in the hilt, and the scheme is rather symbolical of the history of the United States. The sword with the hilt in the shape of a cross was not to symbolize the war with Spain. That war, however, explains one phase of its meaning.

The main approach to the monument is the blade of the sword. As the visitor walks from the point of the sword toward its hilt he sees before him a thousand feet or so in the water of a shallow lagoon 375 feet in length and fifty feet wide—the "Longwater" of the McKinley mausoleum—the reflection of the tomb itself, the broad white granite dome mirrored in the clear stream that flows sedately over four cascades to its subterranean outlet beneath the drive he follows. A level green plain to his left and a green slope to his right down to the banks of the narrow Nimschillen broaden before him as the roadway forks into two drives that border the Longwater. As he follows the narrower part of the sword's blade he sees before him nothing but the stately, simple tomb and its reflection. When the tomb is no longer directly in the line

This memorial was erected by contributions of more than a million men, women and children in the United States and many others in foreign lands.

Charles Henry Niehaus, sculptor of the statue, also designed the ponderous bronze doors to the tomb, the largest ever cast in a single piece. Passing within them, the visitor finds beneath the apex of the simple dome at the heart of the cross the sarcophagi containing the bodies of President and Mrs. William McKinley. The base of each sarcophagus is of black Berlin granite, and the sarcophagi themselves are of dark green Windsor granite. Outspread beneath the feet are seven varieties of granite and marble, black Berlin granite, green marble, black marble, red Champlain marble, pink and gray Knoxville marble and verde antique. The quarries of the country have contributed America's choicest stone. The cross on the floor extends from the sarcophagi and is shown by the color of the stone.

Thus the main approach is the blade of the sword, with the Longwater a silver mirror bearing a reflection of the tomb upon it. The plaza is the guard and the tomb the hilt. From the tomb's center, the heart of the cross, extend two arms which end in the lateral stairway, and within the tomb the much, Garfield's half as much. Those who have stood within both say neither approaches the McKinley memorial in imposing majesty.

wealth were not to be permitted to contribute munificently to the memorial fund. The tomb was to be in the truest sense the nation's memorial. It was to be erected at Canton, McKinley's home, on an eminence overlooking his residence, within sight, too, of the old McKinley home in which his mother died, almost within a stone's throw of the graves of his children and but a similar distance from the little moss grown Westlawn vault where, since his death, regular soldiers have guarded his remains.

At the outset of the movement the trustees drew up a schedule of the amounts they thought each state should give. The estimate was based on the wealth and population of the individual states. It was decided that the money agreed upon must be collected before a spadeful of earth was turned.

The trustees organized by the election of Justice William R. Day, president; Marcus A. Hanna, vice president; Myron T. Herrick, treasurer, and Hyerson Ritchie, secretary. A main office was opened in Canton, and other offices elsewhere. Since the resignation of Secretary Ritchie early in 1902, Assistant Secretary Frederic S. Hartwell has been secretary of the association, with headquarters at Canton. The nation's love for McKinley was shown by the nation's generosity, spontaneous and hearty, in making possible a glorious memorial to his name. In October, 1902, the trustees chose the site for the memorial. From Westlawn Cemetery association and from neighboring property holders a plot of more than a score of acres was bought. By the middle of 1903, not two years after McKinley's death, $500,000 had been subscribed.

The trustees decided that an endowment fund of $100,000 was needed to award. Of the many who had submitted designs four were chosen to enter with six other leading architects of the country a paid contest. Before the close of 1904, at the beginning of which year the new set of designs had been submitted, it was announced that H. Van Buren Magonigle, architect of the proposed monument to the sailors of the Maine in New York, had been chosen to erect the McKinley mausoleum. But slight modifications were made in the design he submitted. There had been a preponderance of plans calling for shafts. Mr. Magonigle conceived a simple, stately dome, regarded as peculiarly expressive of McKinley's life and achievements, an expression of the character of the statesman in stone.

A contract with the Harrison Granite company was entered into in the spring of 1905. The Harrison company sublet the setting of stone and the marble for the interior to George W. Maltby & Sons. June 6, 1905, Architect Magonigle took from the center of the site the first spadeful of earth and placed it carefully in a metal box, to be preserved and placed in the cornerstone. In their first great tasks, the accumulation of the fund, the saving of nucleus for the endowment fund yet uncompleted, by careful award of contracts, in their choice of a suitable design, the trustees had succeeded. New laborers took up their share of the work. Contractors, incessantly busy, became wrapped up in the task. To build a mausoleum like the McKinley memorial in but a trifle over two years was in some respects almost herculean. The Maltby works in Buffalo were partially destroyed by fire this year. At once the wisdom of postponing the date of the dedication, already announced, was considered. Assurances

Pennsylvania Day at Jamestown Exposition

REPLICA OF OLD INDEPENDENCE HALL TO BE ONE GRAND RECEPTION HALL ON OCT. 4.

Governor Stuart and Staff, State Commissioners and State Officials to Participate—The Programme in Detail—Pennsylvania's Fine History Exhibit—Keystone State Troops at Tercennial—Barbara Frietchie's Bible and Other Interesting Relics.

PENNSYLVANIA DAY at the Jamestown exposition is Oct. 4, and one of the most interesting programmes of the season has been arranged. Pennsylvania's hospitable building at the exposition is so centrally located that it is a popular rendezvous for visitors from every state, and every hour of the day finds its broad terraces well filled with resting multitudes taking in the sights of the harbor, the beautiful government piers and the magnificent array of state buildings along Willoughby Boulevard. Everybody is at home in Independence Hall, for Independence Hall at the spread of base. The clock strikes the hours and can be seen and heard in all parts of the exposition grounds.

Some fine old portraits are shown in the Pennsylvania building of historic scenes and personages. There is a large portrait of Washington, one of Gilbert Stuart's, a private loan, and several others from the statehouse in Harrisburg. The replica of the room in which the Declaration of Independence was signed has its walls covered with copies of portraits of all the signers. A picture in the central hall shows the interior of Betsy Ross' possibility the best exhibit of the kind the state has ever made.

A series of large wall maps, five in number, show the historical development of Pennsylvania. They are attractively arranged on the walls, interspersing the large number of portraits of the distinguished makers of the state's history.

The first of these maps illustrates the Pennsylvania of 1680, the second Pennsylvania of 1690, the third Pennsylvania in 1715, the fourth Pennsylvania in 1735. The fifth is a map of Pennsylvania, Maryland and Virginia for 1785.

The most extensive part of the exhibit is a loan collection of objects illustrative of Pennsylvania history arranged according to the state's historical development.

One corner of the space represents the early period—the Swedish development. As an evidence of the pains taken in collecting the Pennsylvania exhibit it may be stated that a trained university man was sent to Sweden, to collect specimens in collecting these objects. The head while sleeping. This strange people had a well equipped printing establishment in operation, and a rare copy of the "Martyr Book" printed there in 1748 is shown. Copies of this book are particularly rare, for the reason that during the Revolutionary war they were confiscated by the Continental forces and the paper used for gun wads. Many photographs of the old buildings and grounds where these people lived and worshiped according to their peculiar ideas are shown.

A case contains documents and relics from the German counties, among which are some samples of glassware manufactured by Baron Stiegel in 1760 and some ancient tiles from his house at Manheim, Pa. A thing which attracts the attention of every visitor is a model of the first telephone, made by Daniel Drawbaugh.

A copy of Barbara Frietchie's Bible, dated 1773, and a photograph of her baptismal record, 1767, are of interest to the admirers of this good woman.

Washington to the American many of David Zetter's many scripts.

There are two loaves in the case of musical instruments, one of them a harpsichord, made by the Moravians at Bethlehem prior to the Revolution, the strings of which will still give out a faint sound when the keys are touched. The other is a violin carved by Johann Antes back in the seventeenth-fifties. A photo facsimile of the first protest made in America against slavery may be seen hanging from one of the columns.

There is a most interesting collection of early Pennsylvania German imprints. In this case is an original copy of the first Bible printed in a European language on the American continent. The work was done by Christopher Sauer at Germantown in 1743.

In a case relating to early German town history are a boy's suit over 150 years old and some photographs of men and houses famous in the history of the town.

GROWTH OF COMMERCE.

Unique Exhibit by State of Pennsylvania at Jamestown Exposition.

Fleeting centuries are as but a day in the all absorbing corner of the Education building at the Jamestown exposition, wherein is displayed the magnificent exhibit of the Commercial Museum of Philadelphia, under the auspices of the Pennsylvania state commission. There one may in imagination barter with the Phoenicians of 500 years before Christ in the commercial exchange of pearls, gold dust, tin, alabaster, malachite, figs, dates, almonds, fine linen, myrrh, sandalwood, dragon blood, olive and palm oil and slaves, samples of each of these and many other articles of Phoenician commerce being on exhibition in this section, the slaves being represented by miniature figures, and it is noticeable that their color was not always black.

Thus the commerce of the passing centuries passes in review, and to the limited articles of trade of the Phoenicians are added in the early centuries of the Christian era such things as silk, hog bristles, cork, lemons and oranges, tea, rice, beads, etc. There the Romans appear as the bright and shining stars in the commercial world, the Phoenicians and Egyptians having given way to the sway of the Caesars. With the Romans came such articles of commerce as salt, wrought iron, brass, sheepskin, ivory, camels' hair, raisins, pounce silk, abies, oak galls, honey, figs, spikenard and dates.

The exhibit of articles representing the trade of nations, interesting in the extreme though it is, would not be complete without the accompanying exhibit, showing by photographic representation and model the various methods or means of transportation of commerce past and present. On the walls of the section allotted to this exhibit are hung representations of the handcrafts of Japan, the lacquer wares of Asia Minor, the yak wares of Tibet, the ox carts of India, the dromedaries of Siam, the camels of Egypt, the dogs and reindeer of Alaska and Siberia, the llamas of the Andes, elephants of Calcutta and scores of other equally interesting and unique representations of commercial ways and means. Then there are reproductions of fast flying freight trains of different nations and models of water belongs to everybody, and Pennsylvania day will be more of a national affair than a mere state event.

The Programme.

Governor Edwin S. Stuart and party, consisting with ladies, of about 200, will arrive at Old Point Comfort on Thursday evening, Oct. 3, where they will remain quartered until Monday. The governor will be accompanied by his staff, the state commissioners and the principal state officials, including all chief justices of the supreme court of Pennsylvania and the judges of the superior court.

The following special exercises will be held in the Auditorium Oct. 4, beginning at 11:30 a. m. Governor Edwin S. Stuart, president of the Pennsylvania state commission, presiding. Music will be furnished by the Exposition band.

Music.
Address of welcome, Hon. Harry St. George Tucker, president of the Jamestown Tercennial exposition.

Music.
Address of welcome, his excellency Governor Claude A. Swanson of Virginia.

Music.
Response, Lieutenant Governor Robert S. Murphy of Pennsylvania, orator of the day.

2:15 p. m., luncheon to the governor and official party by the exposition company.
4 to 5 p. m., reception by the Pennsylvania state commission to the governor of Pennsylvania at the Pennsylvania building. Admission by card only.

The Ninth regiment Pennsylvania national guard, 900 men, will serve as an escort to Governor Stuart. They will camp on the grounds and meet the governor upon his arrival at the government piers.

Independence Hall Reproduced.

Pennsylvania was among the largest of the contributors to the Jamestown exposition, appropriating $100,000 for participation, and it was decided that this should be expended rather in a historical exhibit than in an exhibit of her resources.

Her state building is accordingly a reproduction of Independence Hall, Philadelphia, reduced one-quarter and finished within the main according to the old pattern. Some few changes were necessary upstairs to meet the exposition requirements, but the essential features, large apartments and halls and stairways, are exact copies. The building cost $80,000, and in it is much fine furniture of the old pattern. A clock and bell were placed in the belfry at a cost of $8,000. The bell weighs 1,500 pounds and is four feet house, with Betsy and the flag commission examining the finished flag. The committee consisted of George Washington, Robert Morris and George Ross. Among the wall decorations are the flags of the various cities of the state.

Gettysburg Pictures.

There are also 150 Gettysburg monument pictures. The Pennsylvania commission, through its superintendent of grounds and buildings, H. B. Rowland of Philadelphia, has given much care to the grounds around the building. The grounds are 200 by 260 feet. The state holds the option on the land, as other state commissions do.

A pleasant feature for Pennsylvania visitors is that they find all of the newspapers of the state contributed by the publishers. In connection with the construction of the building Superintendent Rowland calls attention to the fact that white pine is used, as in the original structure.

The Pennsylvania building is brilliantly illuminated. Two clusters of lights surmount the front terrace, while from the posts and brackets there are additional clusters of lights in abundance. All the lines of the buildings and tower are illuminated by rows of lights.

The members of the Pennsylvania commission are Governor Edwin S. Stuart, chairman; E. S. Stoutenburg, treasurer; Robert S. Murphy, William C. Spraul, Henry F. Walton, John M. Scott, J. Henry Cochran, Samuel P. White, Frank B. McClain, William Wayne, H. I. Riley, Frank W. Jackson, L. O. McLane, W. S. Harvey, George T. Oliver, James Pollock, John F. Lewis, A. S. Roberts, Paul H. Galther, T. P. Patton, C. C. Frick, E. M. Thomas, John S. Arnot, chairman of the executive committee; H. F. Walton, executive officer, and James H. Lambert, secretary, the private secretary to the governor.

Pennsylvania History Exhibit.

The Pennsylvania state history exhibit is located in the fireproof History building and is under the direction of Dr. Albert Cook Myers, an eminent writer of American history, of Moylan Philadelphia, and Professor M. D. Learned, head of the department of German at the University of Pennsylvania, commissioned to prepare and install the exhibit. They have by reason of their wide knowledge of the subject and material with which they where he spent some time securing photographs of documents in the official files of that country relating to the settlement of Sweden on the Delaware.

Relics of Quakers.

Much space is given over to the history of the Quakers, who were among the earliest settlers in Pennsylvania. There is a photograph of the Caleb Pusey house, built in 1683, which stands to this day and is the oldest house in Pennsylvania. In this house William Penn was entertained.

The Quaker case contains old silhouettes. An odd engraving, made by Henskirck, of a Quaker meeting in London about 1680 hangs on the corner post. There are two valuable engravings made from paintings by Benjamin West and his family, one in 1773; the other of Penn's treaty with the Indians, 1681. Of this early artist's work two originals are shown, his first painted portraits. They are portraits of children, made about 1750, when West was only seventeen years of age, prior to his election to the presidency of the Royal academy.

Along the side wall is a showcase containing many ancient documents relating to the history of old Chester county, and above it hangs a portrait of the Quaker philanthropist, Lucretia

Mott, painted by William Furness, brother of the great Shakespearean scholar, Horace Howard Furness.

Along the top of the rear wall is a long row of oil portraits of the governors and other early officials of the state.

In the center of the rear wall is a handsome painting of William Penn in armor at the age of twenty-two. There is also a glass case, known as the Penn case, which contains many parchments and other manuscripts signed by Penn and his sons.

Pennsylvania's Germans.

Very naturally one entire corner of the Pennsylvania space is given over to German history. One case is devoted to the Ephraite Choister, that peculiar religious sect established in Lancaster county about 1740. Many odd exhibits may be seen in this case, among them an old wooden communion

There is a collective exhibit which covers well the history of another of Pennsylvania's numerous religious sects—the Moravians. This was a very intelligent sect of Germans, of which the Count and Countess Zinzendorf were the founders.

They made two settlements in the state in 1742, one of which was called Bethlehem and the other Nazareth. On the walls are photo engravings and oil portraits of the leading elders, all of the paintings being from the brush of Haidt and made prior to 1760.

The Moravians.

Two cases are given over to the history of the Moravians, and the exhibit includes some excellent maps of the towns and a unique collection of manuscripts and letters. In this collection are an original manuscript diary by Conrad Weiser, the famous Indian interpreter, and a letter from George space are grouped many novel and interesting exhibits, including ancient colored manuscripts and old firebacks, made by Pennsylvania Germans about 1740; early colonial costumes, bonnets and linen which belonged to leading people of the time; old watches, buckles, spectacles, lanterns, ballroom slippers, shoes and hats. A collection of household utensils includes the ancient pewter and that peculiar product known as tulip ware which the Pennsylvania Germans manufactured so largely.

High up, next to the ceiling, are arranged on the rear wall of the exhibit space specimens of household, farming and fighting instruments of the seventeenth century, and the last of the interesting and instructive exhibits to be dealt with in this article are samples of the early needlework done by the women of the state, which hang upon a center column.

craft used in commerce from ancient to modern times.

These models are in themselves worthy of hours of study. There are Venetian galleys, Arabian dhows, the drakers of the Norsemen, Egyptian punts, Carthaginian galleys, Malay proas, Bolivian balsas, Japanese junks, Phoenician galleys, Babylonian sea horses, Egyptian triremes, Spanish galleons and caravels, Italian nef, Dutch galleots, Polynesian sea camels, New Caledonia prahu and American clippers. The exhibit is one of comparison and contrast, a grand lesson in the study of commerce and commercial relations, the whole giving a vivid impression of the mutual interdependence of nations of the present day.

THE U. OF P. EXHIBIT.

Pennsylvania's Great College Well Represented at Jamestown.

Guarded by two bronze wrestlers and artists' work decorated with the college colors, the exhibit of the University of Pennsylvania in the Education building at the Jamestown exposition is one of the most complete in the display.

The exhibit occupies one entire corner of the building. Along one side are heavy bookcases containing special men volumes from the university library.

On top of the cases are numerous busts and bronze figures, many of priceless value, while on the wall above is a very fine collection of maps, charts and pictures illustrative of the work of the institution.

High up on the wall on a little shelf is a massive bust of Benjamin Franklin, founder of the university. On one of the bookcases there are two bronze figures modeled after statues found in the ruins of Herculaneum, which was destroyed by Vesuvius.

What has proved of great interest is a model of the first college buildings, plain and crude, constructed in the early days of the institution. In contrast with these buildings are shown pictures of the magnificent equipment of the present day, which is equal to that of any like university in the country.

PUBLISHERS PINCHED

Thirty-five publishers of newspapers recently met in Pittsburgh and denounced the Paper Trust and demanded the free admission of paper pulp. Most of the publishers present are said to be Republicans. While the duty on wood pulp should be removed as from all raw materials, the worshipers at the shrine of the protective tariff idol should be the last to complain for two reasons: In the first place they have advocated the tariff and still advocate the tariff which makes trusts possible, and in the second place the duty on wood pulp is not so high as the duty on wool and many other articles. The action of these Republican publishers is illustrative of the truth of the old adage—"It makes a difference whose ox is gored." Now that they squeal when they themselves are pinched, perhaps they may hereafter, in their broadened vision, see the burdens that are being carried by the great mass of wage earners—because of the trust-fostering protective tariff.

A NICE POLITICAL PROGRAM

In Philadelphia and Pittsburgh where they kindly fix things political for the rest of the State a very neat program has been arranged for distributing the high honors and rewards at the bestowal of the Republican party of Pennsylvania. As the slate is made up, Senator P. C. Knox is to be nominated for President and Representative John Dalzell is to succeed him. At the same time Charles Emory Smith, the able editor of the Philadelphia Press, is to succeed Senator Penrose. In pursuance of this arrangement the editor has joined John O. Sheatz, the machine candidate for State Treasurer, on the stump and is singing the praises of Senator Knox as altogether the loveliest of Presidential candidates. He is as zealous for regularity as if he had never taken part in a revolt against the machine.

This is a very pretty political program as it stands, from the front view, but it is all facade. In the first place the architects have neglected the large background of Republicans in the interior who do not take kindly to the candidacy of Senator Knox whom they do not regard as in hearty accord with the policy of President Roosevelt. When it comes to electing delegates to the Republican National Convention they will be apt to be heard from. In the country at large the Senator is hardly regarded as a serious candidate. So he will remain where he is to the end of his Senatorial term and Congressman Dalzell will continue to represent the interests of the Steel Trust in the Committee on Ways and Means.

So much for the western end of the program. In the next place, its makers have sadly failed to reckon with the Penrose machine. Should John O. Sheatz be elected State Treasurer the machine will proceed to appropriate the fruits of victory. The election of a machine Legislature will follow next year and Penrose will be returned to the Senate as a matter of course. On the other hand the defeat of Sheatz by aid of the anti-machine Republicans, which is daily becoming more probable, would result in the election of an anti-machine Legislature next year. In that case care would be taken to elect no man to the United States Senate who has any connection with the Penrose machine and its candidate for State Treasurer in this year's campaign.

Thus the Knox-Dalzell-Emory Smith political structure is seen to be as fragile as a child's house of cards. In the estimation of practical politicians it is little more substantial than a pipe dream.

W. J. Elliott

W. J. Elliott, one of Cumberland Valley's well-known farmers, died at his home there on September 26, aged 49 years. His wife died about a year ago, leaving the following children: Irene, Florence and Russell, all at home. The funeral took place at 10 o'clock Sunday morning at the Bethel church, Rev. Green officiating. This was one of the largest funerals ever held at this church as not over half the people could get into the building.

Mr. Elliott was quiet, industrious, and a good neighbor. He is also survived by his aged mother and one sister, Mrs. John Anderson of Baltimore. Mr. Elliott at one time was a correspondent to The Gazette.

Mrs. Henrietta Parker

At the home of her daughter, Mrs. Alzine Hartzell, in Hyndman, Mrs. Henrietta Parker died September 25 in her 81st year. She had been an invalid for a number of years and since the death of her husband, 18 years ago, she made her home with her daughter. A son, John T., of Frostburg, Md., survives. Funeral services were held on Saturday, conducted by Rev. C. T. Weede of the M. E. church.

Jeremiah Miller

Jeremiah Miller, an aged and respected citizen of Cumberland Valley, whose death, as mentioned last week, occurred September 18, at his residence two miles east of Centreville, was in his eighty-third year. He was a pensioner under the age law of the last Congress. He was the last of a large family, all of whom lived to be old. There survive him his aged widow and the following children: Thomas, Michael, Nicholas, and Mrs. Riley Hook, in the Valley; Charles and Martha, near Meyersdale. Interment was made in the M. P. cemetery at the Fellowship church, Rev. Green officiating.

Mrs. John Hoover

Mrs. John Hoover died at her home in Loysburg on Sunday, September 29, aged 24 years and 17 days. She was born in Snake Spring Valley and was a daughter of John Willey of New Enterprise. Particulars next week.

SIMPLE RECIPE

Prepare This Simple Recipe at Home and Try It.

PLAIN DIRECTIONS.

Druggists Here in Town Say They Can Supply the Ingredients or Make Up the Mixture.

Get from any prescription pharmacist the following:

Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces.

Shake well in a bottle and take a teaspoonful dose after each meal and at bedtime.

The above is considered by an eminent authority, who writes in a New York daily paper, as the finest prescription ever written to relieve Backache, Kidney Trouble, Weak Bladder, and all forms of Urinary difficulties. This mixture acts promptly on the eliminative tissues of the Kidneys, enabling them to filter and strain the uric acid and other waste matter from the blood which causes Rheumatism.

Some persons who suffer with the affections may not feel inclined to place much confidence in this simple mixture, yet those who have tried it say the results are simply surprising, the relief being effected without the slightest injury to the stomach or other organs.

Mix some and give it a trial. It certainly comes highly recommended. It is the prescription of an eminent authority, whose entire reputation, it is said, was established by it.

A druggist here at home when asked stated that he could either supply the ingredients or mix the prescription for our readers, also recommends it as harmless.

There was a party of the business men with a band out in a gasoline boat one evening last week and from some cause the boat blew up and five of the men drowned, while the others swam ashore. One of those drowned was found away down near Huntingdon, W. Va., and he was floating along perfectly upright with his hat on. A professional diver recently told me that was the position that all drowned persons occupied when floating in water more than their depth. This man was a banker of Harrisville, W. Va. M. P. Marriageable Arrivals

In New York City was witnessed last week the singular spectacle of the arrival of not less than 1,002 marriageable young maidens in the steamship Baltic. They came from all parts of the United Kingdom, from England, Scotland, Ireland and Wales, blondes and brunettes, dark and fair, all young and handsome and all eager to assume the matrimonial yoke. While the young ladies are welcome there is no dearth of good-looking marriageable young women already in this country.

BALTIMORE OLD HOME WEEK

Maryland is sending invitations to her sons and daughters scattered everywhere to come to a grand reunion, and is making extensive preparations to give them when they come, a week of right royal entertainment.

New Baltimore, sprung Phoenix-like from the ashes of the fire of 1904, will make of Old Home Week, October 13 to 19, one continual round of patriotic and civic display.

There will be an electrical pageant, a magnificent military and naval display, a gathering of patriotic societies, a parade and ball by the fraternal orders, a big concert, and a night carnival.

There will also be a special pilgrimage to Annapolis on "Peggy Stewart Day," Saturday, October 19, when visitors will have an opportunity to inspect the magnificent new buildings of the United States Naval Academy and the remodeled State House, so full of historic associations.

The Homecomers will have the advantage of specially low railroad rates. The Pennsylvania Railroad will sell excursion tickets to Baltimore, October 12 to 14, good for return passage until October 21, inclusive, from all stations on its lines north and east of Shrewsbury, Principio, and Port Deposit, at a considerable reduction from the regular fare.

Every former Marylander, whose address is known will receive a special invitation, issued by Governor Warfield, and the whole week will thrill with the hospitality for which the Old Line State is so famous.

For exact rates, conditions of tickets, and train service, consult nearest Ticket Agent.

PACKING THE COURT

Lawyer Who Was Capitol Building Commissioner To Try Grafters.

PLAN OF ACQUITTAL

Governor Stuart in the Scheme Which Has for its Purpose the Re-election of Penrose and the Re-buke of Roosevelt.—How Sheatz Won Machine Favor Revealed.

(Special Correspondence.)

Harrisburg, Pa., Oct. 2. Having vaguely promised that the capital grafters will be punished some time after the election the machine party managers appear to be highly delighted with themselves. We are great reformers, they say inferentially, and are willing to hire any number of brass bands with which to hunt for criminals and prosecute looters. But to the average mind their promises are to the ear "to be broken to the hope." That is to say they are simply "good enough Morgans until after the election," and after the election the prosecutions will be abandoned or botched.

This is hardly a matter of conjecture. It is so completely supported by circumstantial evidence as to have assumed the form of fact. If there had been an intention to prosecute S. J. M. McCarrell never would have been appointed Judge of the Dauphin county court by the Governor or nominated for that office by the Dauphin county Republican machine. If a man wanted to break up a gang of burglars he would hardly put the matter in charge of other burglars, if he was a wise man. There is a code of honor among thieves which makes them help each other.

When the fire of suspicious origin destroyed the capitol building in 1897 Mr. McCarrell, was a State Senator. With the help of his own vote a law was enacted appropriating $550,000 for the construction of a new capitol building. That law created a Commission of which Mr. McCarrell became a member which was bound "to complete and deliver" a capitol building, "ready for occupancy and furnishing not later than Nov. 15th 1898." When the Legislature assembled for the session of 1899 it found an unfinished building resembling a tobacco warehouse.

Not a Fit Judge of Grafters.

The law not only required the completion of a building within the specified amount but actually forbade the Commissioners from contracting for the expenditure of any money in excess of that figure. Yet Senator, now Judge McCarrell, certified that the building was complete. It was so absurd a statement that everybody was astounded. The rough brick walls on the outside and the burlap walls on the inside stood as palpable protests against the fraud. No charge of grafting was publicly made but the gossip of the corridors freely charged not only that the contractors had looted the State but that the Building Commissioners had participated in the division of the spoils.

Of course a man so closely associated with the construction of the capitol would not be safe in the position of determining the guilt of the grafters. Naturally he would prefer that the agitation of the question be discontinued as speedily as possible and the surest and safest way to stop the agitation of a question is to forget it. Four years ago Mr. McCarrell aspired to a seat on the bench and was defeated. Again a year ago he became a candidate and was forced out of the fight by public sentiment. A man of his reputation and environment wasn't needed on the Dauphin county bench at those times. But no other kind will serve the purpose now and McCarrell has been both nominated and appointed.

The plain inference is that there will be no trial of the grafters. They will be indicted, of course, and the pretense will be kept up that there is an intention to prosecute. But it is a false and fraudulent pretense. McCarrell has too much interest in the suppression of the facts to permit a judicial investigation if he is able to prevent it and if he is a Judge on the bench in the court in which the cases are scheduled for trial he can prevent it. Governor Stuart must have known this when he appointed McCarrell to the bench and the suspicion is justified that he made the appointment for the purpose of preventing the trial.

Insurance Grafters Immune.

There are other grounds, moreover, for the belief that it is not the intention to prosecute these grafters. During the special session of the Legislature of 1906 the Insurance Department of the State was investigated. The first witness examined during that inquiry was Samuel W. McCulloch, Deputy Insurance Commissioner. Mr. McCulloch testified positively that Clayton W. Erb, Edward J. Davis, R. J. Reed and Israel G. Stone were on the payroll of the Department, received checks regularly for many months though they were never at the Department and never performed any work for the State and notwithstanding there was no authority of law for paying them.

Mr. McCulloch also testified to other misfeasances in the Department for which the Insurance Commissioner was responsible. Among other things he declared that his own salary was augmented frequently by adding expense accounts and inferentially stated that whenever Captain Erb needed money he would make requisition on the Department and get whatever sums he wanted. His testimony was corroborated by Davis, Reed and Stone and it was practically proved that one of these pensioners of the Department was receiving the salary as a reward for service to the machine as a member of the perjured jury which acquitted Sam Salter after his practical confession of guilt.

Insurance Commissioner Durham who was responsible for and participated in these crimes against the State is getting ready to resume his position as "the most influential citizen of Philadelphia." If Governor Stuart is going to purify the public life of the Commonwealth by purging it of grafters through the agency of the criminal courts, why doesn't he begin with those outlaws who were exposed more than a year and a-half ago? Why are not those men sent to prison as an admonition to others who are tempted to loot and in order to vindicate the law which has been outraged? Simply because public sentiment seems to have forgotten the Crimes of those men, though so recent.

Stuart Not a Reformer.

And it is precisely for this reason that the machine managers including Governor Stuart, are anxious to prevent the trial of the grafters now under the lime light of popular execration. They know that such things are soon forgot. Durham was forced to resign at the time and McNicholl was compelled to declare that he would not again participate in municipal spoils. But they are both back at the old business and the old tricks, just as Sanderson and Huston and the other capital grafters will again come into favor of the machine and resume their predatory operations within a few months unless the machine is completely exterminated by the election of John G. Harman this fall.

In the light of these events it is absurd to say that Governor Stuart is a reformer. He is personally honest, no doubt, just as Judge Pennypacker was personally beyond reproach when he became Governor. But he is just as serviceable to the machine as Pennypacker. He won't openly boast of his iniquities as that abominably vain old man did. But he will shield crimes perpetrated for the benefit of the party and protect criminals who have served the organization precisely as his predecessor did. His appointment of McCarrell to the Dauphin county bench at this time is the most convincing and conclusive evidence of this fact. Penrose knew his man.

Governor Stuart never interfered with graft when he was Mayor of Philadelphia and he will not be offensive to his party leaders as Governor. It was during his administration of the municipal government that the Contractors' combine was organized. It was Dave Martin rather than Durham who was the boss in those days. But the difference is without a distinction. A cancer is loathsome no matter what the doctor calls it and Durham is no worse than Martin. In fact when Martin succeeded Durham as Insurance Commissioner he continued the padded payroll until the shadow of the approaching investigation admonished him to "clear the decks." Then he dropped Davis, Reed and Stone.

Enmity to Roosevelt Secures Favor.

The Republican machine is striving to get complete control of the administration of the State government because it is necessary to re-elect Penrose and control the Delegates to the next National convention against Roosevelt. The President has incensed the machine leaders in this State by his indifference to their wants. One of the most potent reasons for the nomination of Sheatz is that he shares this antipathy to Roosevelt. It was only when he voted against the Cressy resolution endorsing the President's policies and pledging the moral support of the Legislature to his railroad rate bill that Sheatz became a prime favorite of the machine and the nomination for State Treasurer is his recompense for that sinister service.

If Sheatz is defeated the machine will be destroyed absolutely. The control of the State deposits is essential to machine success. The political bankers must be fed and fattened or else they won't contribute to the corruption fund and without a corruption fund the machine is impotent. No self-respecting man will vote for its candidates and few of the other kind will do so unless they are paid. The money to pay them can't be got unless the machine has control of the Treasury. The last two years have been the hardest years of the life of the machine. Another two years without the treasury and they will despair. The boot-lickers won't work for nothing.

These are the reasons why the friends of good government should strive earnestly for the election of John G. Harman. He is a splendid specimen of American citizenship. He is honest, able and courageous. If he is elected the policies of Mr. Berry will be scrupulously followed. If he is elected the capitol grafters will be prosecuted and punished notwithstanding the effort to pack the court in their interest as McCarrell tried to pack the Philadelphia jury in the interest of Quay half a dozen years or so ago.

G. D. H.

Mark the Vast Difference.

From the Eastern Argus.

The Republicans of the state of Pennsylvania on each occasion upon which they are offered an opportunity to express any sentiment in resolutions, spread themselves in condemnation of the capitol grafters. Loudly do they call for the bringing of the guilty to justice—on paper. Strangely they urge that they be permitted to hand out the justice to the guilty. That is one side of the question. Witness how differently the effective work of the organization progresses. Note the delay in bringing the men accused of wrong doing into the courts. Consider the determination of the political machine to put off the trial of the capitol grafters until after the election. The machine can see the fallacy of the position of the Republicans of the state in the premises. Censure for the capitol grafters serves the purpose of blinding easily duped voters into the support of the Republican nominee. With the election of the machine candidate to the office of state treasurer and that department of the state government again under the rule of the gang, the prosecution of the capitol grafters might easily be expected to develop into a farce. It would be folly in the extreme even to expect that the machine leaders would be active in handing out to members of their own gang the sort of punishment which the crime seems to merit.

Significance of a Vote for Sheatz.

From the Philadelphia Record.

Both Governor Stuart and Senator Knox shrewdly avoided all mention to the issue of the re-election of Senator Penrose that is involved indirectly, but no less certainly, in this Pennsylvania contest. While they indulged in mutual admiration, they had not one word to say for Senator Penrose. This may be thought unkind when it is considered that the influence of Senator Penrose was essential to the election of Senator Knox, and that his voice was equally potential in the nomination of Governor Stuart. But it was kindness in the Governor and Senator to attempt to keep the chieftain of the Machine in the background of this campaign, if such a thing were possible. Yet everybody knows that a vote for John O. Sheatz is a vote for Boies Penrose, and that the election of Sheatz would mean the triumph of the Machine, to be followed by the certain return of Penrose to the United States Senate.

O, Pennsylvania, How Long?

From the Johnstown Democrat.

There is to be no prosecution of the capitol grafters until December, if then. This is information which comes from an official source. It means that the truth is to be kept from the voters until after the November election. If Sheatz is elected state treasurer it means that the truth will be kept from them for all time. If Sheatz is elected the grafters will be whitewashed. It is the talk that is in the air in Harrisburg. It is the talk in all political circles. The game of fooling the people is on. And they will be fooled if they fail to elect Harman to succeed Berry. The election of Harman will force the prosecution of the grafters. The election of Sheatz will mean immunity for them. Already in prospect of this the grafters are shaking hands with themselves.

An Ominous Coincidence.

From the Harrisburg Gazette.

In the Legislature of 1905 J. Lee Plummer was the Machine Chairman of the House Committee on Appropriations, and from this post the Machine intended to promote him to the office of State Treasurer as a reward for his services. But a hitch was found in the arrangement when the votes were counted in November 1905.

In the Legislature of 1907 John O. Sheatz was the Machine Chairman of the Appropriations Committee, and, following the Plummer precedent, he is also made the Machine candidate for State Treasurer. —Ominous!

What's the Use of Gilding Gold.

From the Doylestown Democrat.

Nearly every spellbinder who speaks for Candidate Sheatz states at great length and with much emphasis that the candidate is an honest man. Why is it necessary to make this point so emphatic? Is it because Republican candidates in the past have been so dishonest that people's suspicions as to the honesty of the present candidate must be allayed? If Mr. Sheatz really is an honest man, why do the spellbinders find it necessary to make that fact so prominent?

Governor of the Machine.

From the Harrisburg Patriot.

Thousands of his fellow-citizens who would rather believe Governor Edwin S. Stuart a patriot and a statesman than a partisan politician will, for the Governor's own sake, regret that he has seen fit only a few weeks before election to appoint Mr. McCarrell to the vacancy on the Dauphin county bench.

In this act Mr. Stuart has shown that he considers himself rather the Governor of a party than the Governor of the people.

Elements Against Sheatz.

From the Blossburg Advertiser.

We do not believe that the Tioga county miners, farmers and old soldiers will support John O. Sheatz for State Treasurer after his gang legislative record has been exposed. Neither do we see how any newspaper publisher can support him because of his vote for the press muzzle. He is of the gang, and for the gang first and last.

A Strong Double Team.

From the Williamsport Sun.

With both the old soldiers, and the sons of old soldiers, entering protest against the Machine bosses' defeat of the Cochran pension bill there will be a heavy verdict against Sheatz at the ballot box in November.

Woman's Queer Status in China.

The law requires a man in China to mourn three years for the death of his father and a hundred days for the death of his mother, but, strange to say, a man would be ostracized if he gave any signs whatever of grief on the death of his wife. Two intimate friends engaged in conversation would never think of even mentioning the name of any female relative. The most common question of "How's your wife?" is never heard in China and would be considered a gross and most unpardonable insult, even between most intimate friends. Chinese "gentlemen" never mention, look at or speak to members of the fair sex, except those of their own family. In order to prevent the embarrassing chance meetings with the women, the visitor always heralds his approach by coughing as he nears the house, thus giving the objectionable but "eternal feminines" time to escape.

Where Fielding Is Buried.

The "father of the English novel," Henry Fielding, lies buried amid the cypress trees of the English cemetery of Lisbon. Not long after his death a tomb was erected to mark the spot—a memorial which an English visitor in 1772 found "nearly concealed by weeds and nettles." In 1830, through the exertions of the then British chaplain, a large sarcophagus was substituted, which about thirty years ago was repaired, and the inscription, a long one in Latin on the front, and the words on the back, "Luget Britannia gremio non dari foreve natum," carefully restored.—London Chronicle.

Why He Felt Happy.

"Vernon told me this morning," related the lady with the cold blue eye, "that he passed the tree where two years ago he carved your initials and his own and encircled them with a heart. He says he felt so glad he almost danced for joy!"

"Ah," said the tall brunette anxiously, "then he must still love me, after all! Did he tell you why he felt so happy?"

"Yes, dear. He said some men were cutting the tree down!"

From Out the Grave. In the little village of Tewin, Hertfordshire, England, there are five large trees growing out of a single grave, and thereby hangs a curious story. On the slab that marks the grave was carved the inscription:

"Here lieth inter'd the body of the Right Honorable Lady Anne Grimstone, wife of Sir Samuel Grimstone, Bart., of Gohambury, in Hertfordshire, daughter of the late Right Honorable the Earl of Thanet, who departed this life Nov. 22, 1713, in the sixtieth year of her age."

The village story says that Lady Grimstone, persisting in a lifelong denial of the existence of a God, on her deathbed declared in answer to the exhortations of her friends that if in the other world she found that there was indeed a God five trees would grow out of her grave. The woman died and was buried. Shortly after the interment the five little shoots began to appear, growing constantly until they split the masonry and wrecked the railing about the tomb.—New York Tribune.

Thomas A. Edison, the great American inventor, says "Fully eighty per cent. of the illness of mankind comes from eating improper food or too much food; people are inclined to overindulge themselves." This is where indigestion finds its beginning in nearly every case. The stomach can do just so much work and no more, and when you overload it, or when you eat the wrong kind of food, the digestive organs cannot possibly do the work demanded of them. It is at such times that the stomach needs help: it demands help, and warns you by headaches, belching, sour stomach, nausea and indigestion. You should attend to this at once by taking something that will actually do the work for the stomach. Kodol will do this. It is a combination of natural digestants and vegetable acids and contains the same juices found in a healthy stomach. It is pleasant to take. It digests what you eat. Sold by Ed. D. Heckerman.

The Age of Chivalry Still. Is love a smaller factor in the problem of life today than it was when Leander swam the Hellespont or when the walls of Troy rocked amid the shocks of battles fought because of Helen's beauty? By no means. Women are loved and beaten, fought for and fought as strenuously today as in centuries gone by, and lovers play pranks as strange and commit crimes as violent at this good hour as they did when they wore doublets and round hose and carried rope ladders under their cloaks. Chivalry dead, and Cupid's corpse moldering beneath the greenward? 'Blood! Look to the columns of your paper for a dozen Romeos a day. It is not the way of a man with a maid that has changed, but merely the style of reporting.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Falling From a Horse. Knowing how to fall from a horse is an art, and it is here that a professional rider or an amateur who is in daily practice has a big advantage over one who gets on a horse's back occasionally. The one may fall as often as the other, but the professional will be uninjured, while the occasional will probably need an ambulance.—Fry's Magazine.

Constipation

Baked sweet apples, with some people, bring prompt relief for Constipation. With others, use all-weather bread will have the same effect. True undoubtedly, but a vegetable remedy to have every ailment known to man, if physicians and find Nature's way to health. And this is likely true with regard to Constipation. The bark of a certain tree in California—Cascara Sagrada—offers a most excellent aid to this end. But, combined with Eucalyptus, Senna, Slippery Elm Bark, Solid Extract of Prunes, etc., this same Cascara bark is given its greatest possible power to correct constipation. A toothsome Candy Tablet, called Lax-ets, is now made at the Dr. Shoop Laboratories, from this ingenious and most effective prescription. Its effect on Constipation, Biliousness, Sour Stomach, Bad Breath, Sallow Complexion, etc., is indeed prompt and satisfying.

No griping, no unpleasant after effects are experienced, and Lax-ets are put up in beautiful lithographed metal boxes at 5 cents and 25 cents per box.

BEST OF PROOF

That Hyomei Will Cure All Forms of Catarrhal Diseases.

Testimonials could be printed by the thousands, many of them from Bedford and nearby towns, that Hyomei is an absolute cure for all catarrhal troubles, but the best proof of its unusual curative powers is the guarantee that F. W. Jordan gives with every outfit that he sells, "Money back if Hyomei does not do all that is claimed for it."

Hyomei is not a secret remedy. Its formula is given freely to physicians who want to know what they use when they prescribe Hyomei. It is guaranteed under the Pure Food and Drug Law by serial No. 1418.

By breathing Hyomei, the healing medication goes directly to every nook and corner of the air passages where the catarrhal germs may lurk, and disinfects and heals. To be convinced of this you have only to give it a trial, remembering that if it does not cure, F. W. Jordan will refund your money.

The complete Hyomei outfit costs but $1.00, and in most cases is sufficient to cure the disease, making it not only a scientific treatment but one that is highly economical. Get an outfit today from F. W. Jordan if you have any catarrh. Sept. 27-28.

"The Blood is The Life."

Science has never gone beyond the above simple statement of scripture. But it has illuminated that statement and given it a meaning ever broadening with the increasing breadth of knowledge. When the blood is "bad" or impure it is not alone the body which suffers through disease. The brain is also clouded, the mind and judgement are affected, and many an evil deed or impure thought may be directly traced to the impurity of the blood. Foul impure blood can be made pure by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It enriches and purifies the blood thereby curing, pimples, blotches, eruptions and other cutaneous affections, as eczema, tetter, or salt-rheum, hives and other manifestations of impure blood.

In the cure of scrofulous swellings, enlarged glands, open eating ulcers, or old sores, the "Golden Medical Discovery" has performed the most marvelous cures. In cases of old sores, or open eating ulcers, it is well to apply to the open sores Dr. Pierce's All-Healing Salve, which possesses wonderful healing potency when used as an application to the sores in conjunction with the use of "Golden Medical Discovery" as a blood cleansing constitutional treatment. If your druggist don't happen to have the "All-Healing Salve" in stock, you can easily procure it by enclosing fifty-four cents in postage stamps to Dr. R. V. Pierce, 663 Main St., Buffalo, N. Y., and it will come to you by return post. Most druggists keep it as well as the "Golden Medical Discovery."

You can't afford to accept any medicine of unknown composition as a substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery," which is a medicine of known composition, having a complete list of ingredients in plain English on its bottle-wrapper, the same being attested as correct under oath. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels.

The Dressmaker

It will be found to be an economy to buy one plain up-to-date pattern of the right bust measurements, rather than trying to remodel a last year's blouse for a pattern, however well fitting it was, for there are small details of differences in this year's model that make just the difference between being absolutely in the mode and a wee bit behind it.

The plain foundation skirt is usually worn with a velvet gown, or some other heavy material, and may be finished on the inside with braid. This is a great protection to a skirt of this kind.

If the figure is inclined to be flat in the back a small pad or bustle will prove a great addition to the appearance and general fit of the skirt.

A perfect fitting corset cover extended to a length of eight inches below the waist may be used as a foundation on which to button several petticoats, thus doing away not only with several layers of fabric about the hips, but avoiding an accumulation of bands about the waistline.

Fascinating to the feminine needle at this moment are the many styles of lingerie ties, cravats, jabots, and rabats. A rabat looks like a handkerchief, plain or edged with lace, laid in fine plaits, so that it is snug and narrow where it joins the collar and flares out as the plaits unfold toward its lower edge. It gives a flat, tailored effect. The jabot gives a cascade effect in lace alone, or lace and lawn, and is worn with dressy rather than tailored waists.

is cheaper than any "graded" or "second" white lead (polite for "adulterated"), no matter how low the price of the adulterated product.

House Painting

is economical only when material is used which will last. "Graded" white leads, so-called, soon scale or wash off. Look for the Dutch Boy Painter on the keg. He guarantees purity and long wear.

In most cases consumption results from a neglected or improperly treated cold. Foley's Honey and Tar cures the most obstinate coughs and prevents serious results. It costs you no more than the unknown preparations and you should insist upon having the genuine in the yellow package. Ed. D. Heckerman.

CAKE RECIPES

Feather Cake

Beat two eggs to a stiff froth, add a piece of butter the size of a walnut, then one cup of sugar, then dissolve one-fourth teaspoonful of soda and one teaspoonful of cream of tartar in one-half cup of milk; stir this mixture and, last of all, stir in one and one-half cups of flour slowly. This is an excellent recipe for making cream pies also.

Coffee Cake

One cupful of sugar, three-quarter cupful butter, two eggs, one-half cupful molasses, one-half cupful cold coffee, two cupfuls flour, one small teaspoonful soda, one cupful of raisins, one cupful of currants, two teaspoonfuls cinnamon, one teaspoonful of allspice, one-half teaspoonful ground cloves.

Chocolate Velvet Cake

Rub to a cream one-half cup of butter, add one and one-half cups of sugar; rub until smooth. Add the yolks of three eggs and rub until it is all of a puff. Stiffen one and one-half cups of flour with a large teaspoonful baking powder three times, add gradually the prepared flour with a scant half cup of milk. Lastly stir in one square of the melted chocolate, and then the whites lightly, having them beaten to a stiff froth. Bake in a moderate oven until it shrinks from the pan.

Lemon Cake

Beat the whites of two eggs stiff, then beat the yolks into them until light, cream one-half cup butter, adding little at a time a cup of sugar; cream to a froth, add one-half a cup sweet milk and one teaspoon lemon flavoring. Sift all together one and one-half cups flour, one fourth cup of cornstarch, one teaspoonful salt. Add to the other ingredients, beat well and bake in a moderate oven 35 or 40 minutes.

I will mail you free, to prove merit, samples of my Dr. Shoop's Restorative. It brings lasting relief in Stomach, Kidney and Heart troubles, through the inside nerves. No matter how the nerves become impaired this remedy will rebuild their strength, a remedy that cures through the inside nerves. Write me today for sample. Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. The Restorative is sold by all dealers.

Value of Advertising

A Kansas man is convinced that advertising pays. He advertised for a lost five-dollar bill and a stranger, who had picked up one on the streets, read the advertisement and restored the bill to the advertiser. A few days later, while looking over a vest he had laid off, the original bill was found in a pocket. He says advertising pays 100 per cent.—Utica Press.

EAT WHAT YOU WANT

Science Has Now Found the True Way to Cure Indigestion.

A few years ago, when a sufferer from indigestion went to a stomach specialist, the result was a rigid diet list that almost meant starvation.

But the first thing to do in the case of indigestion or stomach weakness is to strengthen the muscular walls of the stomach and intestines, so that they will care for the food that is eaten. In no other way can this be done as well as by taking a Mi-o-na tablet before each meal. This restores strength to the stomach muscles and stimulates the pouring out of gastric juices, so that the food is digested readily and its nourishment retained in the system to build up energy and vitality.

Do not think the sick headache, heartburn, bad taste in the mouth, coated tongue, spots before the eyes, sleeplessness and the many other symptoms that are the direct result of indigestion, will go away of themselves. The stomach must be built up and strengthened by Mi-o-na before you can be well and strong, free from suffering and distress.

The guarantee that F. W. Jordan gives with every 50-cent box of Mi-o-na, to refund the money unless the remedy cures, shows their confidence in the treatment. Sept. 27-28.

Hard Times in Kansas

The old days of grasshoppers and drouth are almost forgotten in the prosperous Kansas of today; although a citizen of Codell, Earl Shamburg, has not yet forgotten a hard time he encountered. He says: "I was worn out and discouraged by coughing night and day and could find no relief till I tried Dr. King's New Discovery. It took less than one bottle to completely cure me." The safest and most reliable cough and cold remedy and lung and throat healer ever discovered. Guaranteed by all druggists, 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

No home is so pleasant, regardless of the comforts that money will buy, as when the entire family is in perfect health. A bottle of Orino Laxative Fruit Syrup costs 50 cents. It will cure every member of the family of constipation, sick headache or stomach trouble. Ed. D. Heckerman.

Out of Sight

"Out of sight, out of mind," is an old saying which applies with special force to a sore, burn or wound that's been treated with Bucklen's Arnica Salve. It's out of sight, out of mind and out of existence. Piles too and chilblains disappear under its healing influence. Guaranteed by all druggists. 25c.

OCTOBER

Amid a mass of golden-rod she grieves,
Her raven hair entwined with marigold,
While in her lap lie, colors manifold
Of which a crimson crown she idly weaves;
And I have seen her stray among the sheaves

When first the uplands were in yellow stoled,
Or deep within the fastness of the wild,
Her light feet tripping through the fallen leaves.

Her face is wan and drawn from wandering,
Her russet gown is rent by branch and briar,
While in her eyes there burns a sullen fire

Like that of some half-wild and hunted thing;
Yet off at night, beneath the cloudy moon,
She wakes the echoes with a witching croon!

—Thomas S. Jones, Jr., in October Lippincott's.

Henry E. Jones of Tampa, Fla., writes: "I can thank God for my present health, due to Foley's Kidney Cure. I tried doctors and all kinds of kidney cures, but nothing did much good till I took Foley's Kidney Cure. Four bottles cured me, and I have no more pain in my back and shoulders. I am 62 years old, and suffered long, but thanks to Foley's Kidney Cure I am well and can walk and enjoy myself. It is a pleasure to recommend it to those needing a kidney medicine." Ed. D. Peach Tapioca

Soak a cup of pearl tapioca until clear and soft. Cup up canned peaches into bits. There should be eight or ten of these peaches if large size and a cup of their liquor. Boil the tapioca in a pint of water. When tender, add the peaches and liquor, and stir while the mixture comes to a boil, then remove immediately from the fire. When cold, set in the ice until wanted. Serve with cream.

TORTURING PAIN.

Half This Man's Sufferings Would Have Killed Many a Person, But Doan's Cured Him.

Thousands of grateful people are telling every day how Doan's Kidney Pills cured them of distressing and dangerous kidney and bladder troubles.

Yet other thousands are suffering every day from these same ills. Why? They are either very negligent or very skeptical. Neglect of kidney disorders leads to dropsy, diabetes, Bright's disease and other fatal diseases.

Sincere, honest testimony like the following should convince every skeptic.

A. C. Sprague, stock dealer, of Normal, Ill., writes: "For two whole years I was doing nothing but buying medicines to cure my kidneys. I did not think that any man ever suffered as I did and lived. The pain in my back was so bad that I could not sleep at night. I could not ride a horse and sometimes was unable even to ride in a car. My condition was critical when I sent for Doan's Kidney Pills. I used three boxes and they cured me. Now I can go anywhere and do as much as anybody. I sleep well and feel no discomfort at all."

A FREE TRIAL of this great kidney medicine which cured Mr. Sprague will be mailed on application to any part of the United States. Address Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. Sold by all dealers; price, fifty cents per box.

The Thugs of Paris.

In an article on the Apaches—the highwaymen of Paris—an English correspondent tells of an attack on an Englishman in the streets of the French capital. Two of the ruffians fell upon the visitor, but with a stout stick he was able to render a good account of himself until the arrival of the police, who happened to be only forty yards away. One of the policemen was immediately placed hors de combat by a savage kick from one Apache, but the other stoutly grappled with his man. A night watchman and a concierge went to the assistance of the police, and both footpads were carried off to the police station, not, however, before the Englishman's hand was seriously wounded in his endeavor to wrest a file from his assailants. The file was a particularly murderous instrument; it had been cut away to a fine point. The other man carried a pair of scissors. "You know the object of that?" the Englishman asked an interviewer. "If an Apache has a pair of large scissors in his pocket he cannot be accused of concealing arms, which carries with it a penalty; moreover, it gives color to his contention that he is a tailor. He may back this up, as he often does, by producing a tailor's card showing that he is a member of a tailors' union."

Worms and Tunnels.

Brunel, the famous engineer, is said to have obtained the idea for constructing the tunnel under the Thames from watching the teredo, a soft worm, which lives in harbors and the mouths of rivers and bores its way into any exposed timber. The teredo, as it bores into the wood, incases itself in a calcareous tube, and this gave Brunel the needed inspiration. He set his men to work boring into the mud from behind a shield, which was shoved forward as the boring progressed, a brick arch being built in the rear, just as the tube of the teredo was made. On this plan all subsequent subaqueous tunnels have been made.

AFTER TEN YEARS

Mr. G. L. Stephenson, of Peterborough, Ont., says: "For over ten years I suffered constantly with Piles, first itching, then bleeding; pain almost unbearable; life a burden. Tried everything in vain till I used Dr. Leonhardt's Hem-Roid."

"I had taken but a few doses when I began to notice an improvement and now, after using three boxes, I am glad to say I am completely cured. My general health has also greatly improved. It gives me great pleasure to commend Hem-Roid to all sufferers with Piles, and I feel convinced that what it has done for me it will surely do for them."

Price, $1.00 at F. W. Jordan's, Bedford, Pa., or Dr. Leonhardt Co., Niagara Falls, N. Y.

Men's and Women's Fine Clothing Made To Measure

The Latest Styles Now Ready

A lot of people have called to take a peep at the big, new line for fall and winter suitings, etc. There are over 1200 different styles, costs nothing to look and but little to buy. Every one has been more than surprised and pleased at our extremely large selection of nobby patterns to choose from, and the prices are considered low. Quite a number expressed themselves as having previously paid more for ready-made clothes than we ask for GARMENTS MADE TO YOUR ORDER. This is the point exactly—we actually do sell made-to-measure clothes at less than is usually asked for ready-made. We are in position to give you exceptional values because we take the entire product of several of the largest woolen mills in this country and in Europe. Our prices are therefore based on the lowest margin consistent with the very best quality and workmanship.

MADE TO MEASURE Men's Suits and Overcoats, $15 to $50
Men's Fine White and Fancy Shirts, $1.50 to $3.50
Ladies' Long Winter Coats, $12 and upwards
Ladies' Jacket Suits, $16 and upwards

Call and see our line of samples whether you wish to place your order or not. It will be worth something to you at least to know what men and women of good taste are going to wear this season.

Mrs. William Lehman
Mrs. William Lehman died at her home in Hyndman on September 23, aged 67 years. She suffered with heart trouble for several years but a stroke of paralysis last Friday was the cause of her death. A number of children survive, among whom are Mrs. Maggie Leonard of Bedford, Mrs. William Shuler, John and Emma Lehman, of Hyndman. Funeral services were held Friday afternoon, conducted by Rev. J. F. Kerlin of the Reformed church.

Cora M. Oster

Cora M. Oster died at the home of her parents, Hon. and Mrs. George W. Oster, at Osterburg, at 5 p. m. on Monday, September 30, after an illness of three weeks from pneumonia. She was aged 19 years, seven months and 29 days, and leaves to mourn her loss her parents, four brothers and one sister: Harry of Camden, N. J., Ray, Charles, Victor and Olive, at home. The funeral services were held at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning, conducted by Revs. J. H. Diehl and J. W. Zehring. Interment in the Reformed cemetery at Osterburg—[Blair, Somerset and Cambria papers please copy.]

LETTER TO W. S. ARNOLD

Bedford, Pa.

Dear Sir: Such experiences as this are occurring all over the country. Judge I. D. Fanchild owns two houses, exactly alike, in Lufkin, Texas. J. M. Torrence painted both houses, one Devco, 15½ gallons, the other with another paint sold at same price, 25 gallons. That 25 gallon paint is weak and 15 0 0 whitening, that's why it took 9½ gallons more. You can learn for nothing what he had to pay for.

Yours truly

F. W. DEVCO & CO.

BARNETT'S STORE

Fall and Winter Coats

are coming in almost every day. As soon as the manufacturer has a bunch ready—they come right along by express. We are now showing lots of models that won't be duplicated for less than $1.50 to $2.00 more, later in the season. Come in now and see what pretty wraps we have gathered.

Rubber Boots and Shoes

It is our pleasure to announce that we now have on hand a complete assortment of Banigan's Pure Gum Boots and Rubbers. These goods have given satisfaction in every respect during the many years we have handled them.

The styles are snappy and up-to-date and all boots are made with heavy leather insoles moulded in them. This improvement makes the boots wear much longer and also renders them easy to half sole.

Silks

A beautiful line of Plain and Plaid Silks in this week. All the new shades in browns—36 inches wide at $1.25 a yard. In the Fancy Silks we have dozens of patterns but no two alike. Come soon and get the pick. These are all "Money-bak" goods and fully guaranteed.

Low Shoes

Some broken lots in black, brown and white—you can buy them at your own price—we don't want to carry them over.

Letters in the Old Trunk

You have doubtless seen and read your grandmother's letters, which were stored away up-attic in the old trunk. From these you are able to judge of the taste and refinement which her girlhood possessed.

Some day your letters may be stored away in the old trunk; some one may be passing on your taste.

Covering Capacity Means Less Coats of Paint : :

B. P. S. Paint is exceptionally strong in covering power. By "covering power" is meant the ability of paint to completely hide or cover up the old, dirty and disfigured surface.

The better the covering power of paint, the fewer coats needed—the weaker the paint, the more coats needed—and the more coats applied, the bigger the paint bill. Further, the more coats applied on a building, the thicker the coating of paint, and thick paint is always liable to blister and peel. The thinner paint is applied—so long as the surface is covered—the better.

On account of its strong covering power, two coats of B. P. S. Paint will produce a more solid, even surface—will cover better—than three coats of improperly made hand-mixed or prepared paint.

The reason B. P. S. Paint has such strong covering capacity—money-saving ability—is due to the fact that,

1st—It is made on a perfect formula, containing just the right proportions of lead, zinc, and linseed oil;

2d—It is so thoroughly mixed and finely ground that it spreads out easily, covering evenly and smoothly every part of the surface to which it is applied.

Money is saved or wasted according as paint has or has not good covering capacity.

Save money by using B. P. S. Paint. Owing to the purity of materials used, perfect formula, and absolute accuracy and thoroughness of mixing and grinding, B. P. S. Paint gives the best possible results in easy-working qualities, covering and spreading capacity, fine finish and durability.
